Re: NRED v. Michael Sloane
Case No: 2021-1217

Dear Ms. Valadez:

Please allow this correspondence to serve as my request for a stay of discipline and for a re-hearing of the August 22, 2023 Commission hearing.

When I first received notice of my violation, I called the compliance audit investigator, Maria Martin, several times to ensure when I would be put on the agenda for my Commission hearing. She explained that I would receive both an email and mail copy of the hearing information, so I made sure to confirm my addresses with her. Since then, I continuously checked both my email and mail boxes for the hearing information. To date, the last information I have received is your previous letter and its enclosures, stating the order that was determined at the August 22, 2023 hearing. While I believe the mail was sent, I unfortunately did not receive any information as to the hearing, and therefore, was not made aware of the scheduled date. As such, I humbly and respectfully request that you consider a re-hearing and stay of discipline, so that I may contest the decision made.

I would appreciate the opportunity to be heard by the Commission for the following: (1) to contest the order made at the August 22, 2023 Commission hearing, and (2) to explain why I am unable to meet the fine due date of January 3, 2024.

I sincerely appreciate your consideration of my requests.

Respectfully,

/s/ Michael Sloane
